FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

New Weber ASX 460 utilizes digital imaging to increase skinning and derinding yields in a single operation.

New Weber ASX 460 technology now allows processors to defat and derind products in one operation, at higher speed and with greater yields than ever before.

A new digital imaging system built into the ASX 460 will continuously analyze any product passing through and instantaneously adjust fat removal based on measured content. Separation of the lean meat and fat can also be controlled by manual adjustment of the program setting.

The ASX 460 Skinner utilizes Weber's powerful and proven technology to precisely derind products at cutting thicknesses ranging from 0 – 4mm. A fat removal adjustment range of 0 – 20mm provides extra flexibility and higher yields over a greater range of products. The maximum cutting width of 456mm will handle a wide variety of applications.

Constructed entirely from stainless steel, the hygienically designed ASX 460 is ruggedly constructed to assure long life, easy clean-up and low maintenance. Worker safety and ergonomics are also important design considerations.

Weber manufactures a wide variety of skinners and derinders, as well as complete line of high-tech slicing machinery and ice-making machines. Founded in 1981, Weber operates three manufacturing facilities in Germany, as well as the North American Technology Center and demonstration facility in Kansas City, MO.
